

Skid supply

MTSA Technopower is a renowned supplier of high-quality mechanical and electronic parts and modules as one-off pieces or small series for the OEM, research organisations and service companies in various high-tech industrial sectors e.g. the energy, semiconductor, food, pharma and process sector.

MTSA Technopower excels in manufacturing complete systems, modules and parts of equipment using its multi disciplinary skills e.g. engineering, machining, procurement, high-quality welding, instrumentation, assembly and acceptance testing.

A great deal of equipment and installations in the process and energy sectors are modular built on a mobile frame or skid.

MTSA Technopower supplies expertise and production capacity, which our customers use to increase their competences and production potential in a focussed and flexible manner. Flexibility is also shown in MTSA Technopower's ability to tailor products individually to the specific requirements of the end user.
